

Breakfast in the Classroom

Grab n'Go

Pros and Cons

Grab n'Go...Pros

1. Students who do not eat at home can have a meal before school starts.
2. Students are able to pick up a "bagged meal" 10 minutes before the bell rings. They eat on the way to class or eat in the classroom.
3. Teachers are not involved in service.
4. Bell schedules may not need adjustments.

Grab n'Go...Cons

1. No universal feeding.
 - a. Student must pay their co-pay, for reduced and full price breakfast.
 - b. Students must enter pin number since meals are claimed by eligibility.
2. Not all students will have the opportunity to eat.
 - a. Service stops once the bell rings.
 - b. Long lines due to students entering pin numbers and paying for meals, as well as rushes before the bell rings may occur.
 - c. Students that are late due to traffic, buses etc. will not be able to participate.
 - d. Students that arrive right before second period (Seniors) may not have the opportunity to have breakfast.
3. Potentially no cash incentive for the school.
4. Trash spread throughout the campus.
 - a. Students eat on their way to class.
 - b. Trash and leftover food remains in the classroom without a clean-up process.
5. Possible tardiness issues.
6. There will be not be a Nutrition Break.
 - a. Breakfast is only served 10 minutes before school starts.
 - b. The next meal for students will not be provided until lunch.
