Foreword

The Guidelines for Standards-Based Instruction in Secondary History/Social Science, 2008 Edition, provides a directory of courses adopted by the Los Angeles Unified School District for students in grades 6-12. It is designed to communicate to stakeholders—students, parents, school personnel and community representatives—the History/Social Science content and skills students should master by the end of each grade level and course. It includes standards, descriptions, prerequisites, academic outcomes, course codes, syllabi, required assessments, and recommended instructional resources to meet the needs of diverse learners. As such, it is a comprehensive resource for implementation of and access to a rigorous standards-based secondary History/Social Science curriculum that meets the District’s A through G graduation requirements and provides a gateway to multiple post-secondary options.

In 2001, the California Department of Education adopted the History/Social Science Framework for California Public Schools: Kindergarten Through Grade Twelve; this document, revised in 2007, established a curricular platform for instruction and assessment, state-wide. The subsequent Board adoption of content standards for History/Social Science supported state and national efforts to improve student achievement. In 2001 the federal government reauthorized the No Child Left Behind Act and in 2003, the State Board of Education required that the class of 2006 to pass the California High School Exit Examination to receive a diploma. Consequently, the District’s secondary History/Social Science curricula, teaching and learning methodology, instructional resources, textbooks, assessments, and related resources now align to current accountabilities and to the academic demands of the 21st century.

The History/Social Science Guidelines for Standards-Based Instruction, 2008 reflects a philosophy of teaching and learning that is consistent with current research, best practices and national and state accountabilities. It also reflects the changing needs of students and society and supports what students need to know and be able to do to meet the challenges of the evolving global community of the 21st century.

Middle School Core History/Social Science Courses
World History and Geography: Ancient Civilizations AB
(Annual Course – Grade 6)
Prerequisite: None

370121  Wld/Hist/Geo: Ancient Civ  6A
370122  Wld/Hist/Geo: Ancient Civ  6B

Course Description

This Grade six course investigates the origins and development of ancient societies of major western and non-western civilizations. Included are the societies of the Near East, Africa, the ancient Hebrew civilization, Greece, Rome, and the classical civilizations of India and China. For each of these societies, emphasis is placed on the major contributions, achievements, and beliefs that have influenced civilizations across the centuries to the present day. This course stresses the special significance of geography in the development of the human story and provides the opportunity to study the everyday lives of people living in vastly different areas of the world. The course content focuses on the people in ancient societies; their problems and accomplishments; their social, economic, political structures, and belief systems; the tools and technology they developed; the arts they created; the architecture; the literature they produced; their explanation for natural phenomena, and their direct or indirect contributions to issues such as the role of women and the practice of slavery.

COURSE SYLLABUS

Recommended Focus Standards

Scope and Sequence

Instructional Component 1:  Early Man, Mesopotamia, and Egypt (Standards 6.1 and 6.2)
6.1 Students describe what is known through archaeological studies of the early physical and cultural development of humankind from the Paleolithic era to the agricultural revolution.
6.2 Students analyze the geographic, political, economic, religious, and social structures of the early civilizations of Mesopotamia, Egypt, and Kush.

Instructional Component 2:  Hebrews, India, and China (Standards 6.3, 6.5, and 6.6)

World History and Geography: Medieval and Early Modern Times AB
(Annual Course – Grade 7)
Prerequisite: None

370123  Wld/Hist/Geo: Med/Mod 7A
370124  Wld/Hist/Geo: Med/Mod 7B

Course Description

This Grade seven course explores world history and geography from the Fall of Rome through the Age of Enlightenment. The course investigates the social, cultural, and technological changes during this period. This course briefly reviews the role of archaeologists and historians in uncovering the past. It goes on to examine Islam as a religion and as a civilization. The course examines the spread of Islam through Africa, the rise of the Mayan, Incan, and Aztec civilizations; the civilizations of China and Japan; Europe during the High Middle Ages; the turbulent ages of the Renaissance, Reformation, and Scientific Revolution. This course seeks to enhance understanding of the interconnection of past events, people, and ideas to events and issues of importance in the world today.

COURSE SYLLABUS
Recommended Focus Standards (See attached)
Scope and Sequence

United States History & Geography: Growth and Conflict
(Annual Course – Grade 8)
Prerequisite:

370125     US HIS/GE:GROWTH&CONF A
370126     US HIS/GE:GROWTH&CONF B

Course Description
The Grade eight course examines United States history and geography concentrating on the growth of the United States during the period of colonization through the Age of Industrialization. The course begins with an intensive investigation and review of the major ideas, issues, and events preceding the founding of the nation. The course then concentrates on the shaping of the Constitution and the nature of the government that it created. The development of unique regions in the West, Northeast, and the South and the causes and consequences of the Civil War, is covered in depth. The course studies the movement of people into and within the United States; the experiences of diverse groups (women, racial, religious, ethnic, and economic classes) and their contributions to the evolving American identity. The course also connects historical issues to current affairs in order to develop a greater understanding of the basic institutions and policies of the nation.

COURSE SYLLABUS

Instructional Component 1: Foundations of America (Standards 8.1, 8.2, 8.3, 8.4)
8.1 Students understand the major events preceding the founding of the nation and relate their significance to the development of American Constitutional democracy.
8.2 Students analyze the political principles underlying the U.S. Constitution and compare the enumerated and implied powers of the federal government.
8.3 Students understand the foundation of the American political system and the ways in which citizens participate in it.
8.4 Students analyze the aspirations and ideals of the people of the new nation.

Instructional Component 2: Foreign Policy, Divergent Paths (Standards 8.5, 8.6, 8.7, 8.8, 8.9)
8.5 Students analyze U.S. foreign policy in the early Republic.
8.6 Students analyze the divergent paths of the American people from 1800 to the mid-1800s and the challenges they faced, with emphasis on the Northeast.
8.7 Students analyze the divergent paths of the American people in the South from 1800 to the mid-1800s and the challenges they faced.
8.8 Students analyze the divergent paths of the American people in the West from 1800 to the mid-1800s and the challenges they faced.
8.9 Students analyze the early and steady attempts to abolish slavery and to realize the ideals of the Declaration of Independence.

Instructional Component 3: Civil War, Reconstruction, Industrialization (Standards 8.10, 8.11, 8.12)
8.10 Students analyze the multiple causes, key events and complex consequences of the Civil War.
8.11 Students analyze the character and lasting consequences of Reconstruction.
8.12 Students analyze the transformation of the American economy and the changing social and political conditions in the United States in response to the Industrial Revolution.

- Compare and contrast the influence of the religious and philosophical beliefs of both groups and individuals on slavery in the United States.
- Analyze the impact of the Constitution on the development of the United States.
- Analyze the impact of geographical factors on the development of pre-Civil War America.
- Describe how the expansion of slavery changed the economic structure of America.
- Trace the development of and evaluate the historical policies of the United States toward the Native Americans through analysis of data, primary and secondary sources.
- Analyze the impact of Manifest Destiny on the expansion of the United States into neighboring territories.
- Examine the effects of Reconstruction on race relations in the United States.
- Evaluate the principles set forth in the Reconstruction Era Amendments.
- Evaluate the interrelationship between industrialization and immigration in the post-Civil War era.

In accordance with their individual capacity, students will grow in the ability to:

- Locate, interpret, and assess information found in primary and secondary sources.
- Use the tools and concepts of geography to read and interpret various kinds of maps, globes, models, diagrams, graphs, charts, tables and pictures of the United States.
- Describe how major historical events are related to each other in time by distinguishing between cause and effect, sequence, and correlation.
- Construct historical interpretations and solutions through the evaluation of different ideas, values, behaviors, and institutions.
- Use the specialized (concept) language used in historical research and the history-social science discipline.
- Evaluate the accuracy of information obtained from computer programs, films, radio, television, and videotapes.
- Combine ideas, concepts, and information in new ways; make connections between seemingly unrelated ideas.
- Describe how social, economic, organizational, and technological systems operate.
Assessments will include:

- Periodic Assessments
  - a. Multiple Choice Items
  - b. Short Constructive Response
  - c. Historical Analysis Items

(Annual Course – Grade 11)
Prerequisite:

370129 US His/Geo: 20th Cent A
370130 US His/Geo: 20th Cent B

Course Description

This Grade eleven course surveys the major turning points in American history in the twentieth century. The course begins with a selective review emphasizing two major themes: the nation’s beginnings and the industrial transformation of the new nation. Throughout the course the application of constitutional principles to contemporary issues is addressed. Topics covered are the expanding role of the federal government and the federal courts, the continuing tensions between the individual and the state and between minority rights and majority power, the emergence of a modern corporate economy, the impact of technology on American society; culture change in the ethnic composition of American society, the movements toward equal rights for diverse groups such as racial minorities, gays and lesbians, people with disabilities, and women; and the role of the United States as a major world power. The course investigates the diversity of American culture, including religion, literature, art, drama, architecture, education, and the mass media.

This course meets the graduation and the "A-G" requirements.

COURSE SYLLABUS

Instructional Component 1: Background to the 20th Century (11.1, 11.2, 11.3, and 11.4)
11.1 Students analyze the significant events surrounding the founding of the nation and its attempts to realize the philosophy of government described in the Declaration of Independence.
11.2 Students analyze the relationship among the rise of industrialization, large-scale rural to urban migration, and massive immigration from Southern and Eastern Europe.
11.3 Students analyze the role religion played in the founding of America, its lasting moral, social and political impact, and issues regarding religious liberty.
11.4 Students trace the rise of the U.S. to its role as a world power in the 20th century.

Instructional Component 2: The United States, the World Wars, and post war foreign policy
(Standards 11.5, 11.6, 11.7, and 11.9)
11.5 Students analyze the major political, social, economic, technological, and cultural developments of the 1920s.
11.6 Students analyze the different explanations for the Great Depression and how the New Deal fundamentally changed the role of the federal government.
11.7 Students analyze the American participation in World War II.
11.9 Students analyze United States foreign policy since World War II.

Instructional Component 3: Post World War II Domestic issues (Standards 11.8, 11.10, and 11.12)
11.8 Students analyze the economic boom and social transformation of post-World War II America.
11.10 Students analyze the development of federal civil rights and voting rights developments.
11.11 Students analyze the major social problems and domestic policy issues in contemporary American society.

Principles of American Democracy
(Semester Course – Grade 12)
Prerequisite:

370603 Principles of Amer Democracy

Course Description

The major purpose of this course is to analyze United States’ system of government and the historical background, fundamental concepts and principles that underlie American democracy. The course covers the development of the Constitution, Bill of Rights, and Federalism. It also includes a study of political parties, voting and voting behavior, and elections at the national, state, and local levels. The course will analyze the influence of special interest groups and the role of the media in shaping public opinion. Additional emphasis is placed on the role and the responsibilities of the three branches of government at the national, state, and local levels. This course will summarize landmark court decisions in terms of civil rights and civil liberties and will also study complex contemporary issues that confront national, state, and local governments such as immigration, race, abortion, gender, sexual orientation, and disabilities. The content included in this course should be viewed as the culmination of the civics literacy strand of the California History-Social Science Framework.

This course meets the graduation and "A-G" requirements.

COURSE SYLLABUS

12.1 Students explain the fundamental principles and moral values of American Democracy as expressed in U.S. Constitution and other essential documents of American Democracy.
12.2 Students evaluate and take and defend positions on the scope and limits of rights and obligations as democratic citizens, the relationships among them, and how they are secured.
12.3 Students evaluate and take and defend positions on what the fundamental values and principles of civil society are (i.e., the autonomous sphere of voluntary personal, society, and economic relations that are not part of government), their interdependence, and the meaning and importance of those values and principles for a free society.
12.4 Students analyze the unique roles and responsibilities of the three branches of government as established by the U.S. Constitution.
12.5 Students summarize landmark U.S. Supreme Court interpretations of the Constitution and its amendments.
12.6 Students evaluate issues regarding campaigns for national, state, and local elective offices.
12.7 Students analyze and compare the powers and procedures of national, state, tribal, and local governments.
12.8 Students evaluate, take, and defend positions on the influence of media on American political life.
12.9 Students analyze the origins, characteristics, and development of different political systems across time, with emphasis on the quest for political democracy, its advances, and its obstacles.
12.10 Students formulate questions about and defend their analyses of tensions within our constitutional democracy and the importance of maintaining a balance between the following concepts: majority rule and individual rights; liberty and equality; state and national authority in a federal system; civil disobedience and the rule of law; freedom of the press and the right to a fair trial; the relationship of religion and government.

Economics
(Semester Course – Grade 12)
Prerequisite:
370905 Econ

Course Description
The purpose of this course is to provide a comprehensive study of the basic institutions, concepts, principles, and practices of economics. Instruction covers basic economic concepts that underlie the United States market system and its operations. Instructional units apply these concepts at both the micro and macro levels; promote informed voter and consumer decision making, provide information about major economic theories and prominent economists, and emphasize how economics influence the lives of ordinary citizens. In addition the course investigates the complex political and economics issues confronting national, state, and local governments. Also included is an analysis of the American free enterprise system through a study of comparative economics. Included is instruction on the international dimensions of economics and the “global” economy. Throughout this course, measurement concepts and methods involving tables, charts, graphs, ratios, percentages, and index numbers are introduced to understand the relationship between economic variables, thus adding to their mastery of economic thought and method.

This course meets the graduation and "A-G" requirements.

COURSE SYLLABUS
12.1 Students understand common economic terms and concepts and economic reasoning.
12.2 Students analyze the elements of America’s market economy in a global setting.
12.3 Students analyze the influence of the federal government on the American economy.
12.4 Students analyze the elements of the U.S. labor market in a global setting.
12.5 Students analyze the aggregate economic behavior of the U.S. economy.
12.6 Students analyze issues of international trade and explain how the U.S. economy affects, and is affected by, economic forces beyond the United States’ borders.

Recommended Focus Standards

Designing Advanced and Honors Courses

Students need opportunities to take advanced and enriched History/Social Science courses in middle and high school when they demonstrate higher levels of proficiency, effort, and achievement. Research shows that coursework in advanced and honors-level classes should be differentiated, or specially designed for students whose achievement is significantly above that of their peers. In the History/Social Science Framework for California Public Schools, these courses provide students with opportunities necessary to reach their fullest potential, “Advanced students in history/social science often require systematically planned differentiation to ensure that curriculum and instruction are appropriately challenging” (California Department of Education, 2007). Differentiation in a core History/Social Science class includes curriculum, instruction, and assessment that are enriched along four dimensions: acceleration/pacing, depth, complexity, and novelty (CDE, 1994). Differentiation in advanced and honors-level courses implies that students will be working on concepts that are more cognitively demanding than those addressed in core courses, and students will be engaged in both collaborative and independent study that exceeds grade-level standards and builds students’ independence with difficult reading, writing, listening, and speaking tasks.

- Acceleration/Pacing provides arrangements for students to move more rapidly through a curricular sequence. An accelerated curriculum would include challenging and appropriate opportunities above and beyond the usual grade-level content: special projects, seminars, independent study, alternate assessments, and flexible grouping.

- Depth allows students who demonstrate an extraordinary knowledge, skills, or interest in a topic or task to pursue it in greater detail and to a greater level of understanding. Depth refers to approaching or studying something from the concrete to the abstract, from the familiar to the unfamiliar, and from the known to the unknown. An in-depth study would often include a significant amount of outside, independent research guided by essential questions that lead to advanced insight and comprehension.

- Complexity involves making relationships between and among ideas, connecting other concepts, and layering—a why/how interdisciplinary approach that connects and bridges to other disciplines, always enhancing the meanings of ideas. Students working individually or together on relatively complex ideas and relationships should be particularly encouraged to examine their own thinking.

- Novelty differs primarily from the other forms of differentiation because it is primarily student-initiated. Differentiating the curriculum through increasing depth and complexity should always begin with the students’ response to the topics, issues, ideas, and tasks presented. Providing advanced learning opportunities through novelty depends entirely on the students’ perceptions and responses, their inquiry and exploration using personalized and nontraditional approaches to finding the irony, paradoxes, metaphors, and other sophisticated symbolic processes within and across content areas. Teachers should encourage students to develop original interpretations, reinterpretations, or new implications among or within disciplines.

The University of California grants special “honors” designation and extra credit in students’ grade point average computation only to those level courses (grades 11 and 12) that meet specific criteria. (See High School Honors Level History/Social Science Courses)

High School Honors Level History/Social Science Courses

The University of California grants special "honors" designation and extra credit in students' grade point average computation only to those high school honors level courses that meet the following criteria. The University strongly encourages that such courses be available to all sectors of the school population.

- AP Courses. Advanced Placement (AP) courses in the "a-g" subjects which are designed to prepare students for an Advanced Placement Examination of the College Board are automatically granted honors status, even if they are offered at the 10th grade level (e.g., newly developed courses/exams in Human Geography and World History). For more information about AP, go to the College Board's web site at www.collegeboard.org/ap/.

- International Baccalaureate. Designated International Baccalaureate (IB) courses offered by schools participating in the IB program are automatically granted honors status. For a list of IB courses that are granted honors status, search for the "International Baccalaureate" program list on the Doorways course list web site at https://doorways.ucop.edu/list. For more information about IB programs, go to www.ibo.org.

- College Courses. College courses in the "a-g" subjects that are transferable to the University of California. To determine whether a course is transferable, go to www.assist.org.

- Other Honors Courses. Other honors courses (that are not AP, IB, or college courses) specifically designed by the high school are acceptable if they are in the disciplines of history, English, advanced mathematics, laboratory science, languages other than English, and advanced visual and performing arts and have distinctive features which set them apart from regular high school courses in the same discipline areas. These courses should be seen as comparable in terms of workload and emphasis to AP, IB, or introductory college courses in the subject. Acceptable honors level courses are specialized, advanced, collegiate-level courses offered at the 11th and 12th grade levels. Please refer to the notes below for special requirements for the certification of these honors courses.

NOTES on honors courses other than AP and IB:

UC approved honors level history/social science courses used to satisfy the “a” requirement characteristically consist of courses in U.S. government, U.S. history, European history, world history, world cultures, and geography. Such courses are expected to provide both breadth and depth of exploration in the subject area, developing writing, research, and analytical skills. The courses must offer content and/or experience that are demonstrably more challenging than what is offered through the regular college preparatory courses in the same field. Factors considered for UC approved honors courses that satisfy the “a” requirement include but are not limited to the assignment and evaluation of one long or numerous short, challenging, and properly-annotated research papers and a comprehensive final examination. The use of college level textbooks is encouraged. The regular college preparatory courses in the subject areas should be offered, as well.

1. Honors level courses must have a comprehensive, written final exam. The purpose of the final examination is to permit students to exhibit depth of knowledge and sustained mastery of subject material. The final examination permits each student to demonstrate knowledge that is acquired, integrated, and retained.

2. Honors level courses must be designed for 11th and 12th graders who have already completed foundation work in the subject area. Ninth and tenth grade level high school courses that schools might designate as "honors" do not meet the UC honors level requirement and therefore are not granted special "honors" credit by the University. (Note: Tenth grade students who have the necessary preparation to complete UC designated honors courses [i.e., those designed for 11th and 12th graders] will receive UC honors credit; however, they will receive credit for not more than two units* of these courses completed in the tenth grade.)

3. In addition to ninth and tenth grade courses, other courses that a school may designate as "honors" for local purposes but that do not fill the requirements stated in this section will not be granted special credit by the University.

4. In addition to AP and IB higher level courses, high schools may certify as honors level courses not more than one unit* in each of the following subject areas only: history, English, advanced mathematics, each laboratory science, each language other than English, and each of the four VPA disciplines.

5. If there are no AP or IB higher level courses in a given subject area, the high school may certify up to, but not more than, two units* at the honors level in that area. Exceptions to this rule require strong justification and documentation.

6. Most high school courses, which are not an AP or IB higher level course, shall be designated an honors level course only when there is a regular course offered in the same subject area at the same grade level. Exceptions to this rule require strong justification and documentation.

Senior High School Advanced Placement History/Social Science Courses
Advanced Placement American History AB
Annual Course – Grade 11
Prerequisite: None

370111 AP AM HIS A
370112 AP AM HIS B

Course Description
The major purpose of this course is to provide an intensive study of the political, economic, social, intellectual, diplomatic, and cultural development of the United States. The course emphasizes a variety of themes and approaches to United States history and encourages an awareness of the nature of history in its broadest definition and a sense of the alternatives to any given explanation. The course develops the ability to read advanced-level historical work analytically and evaluate historical evidence and interpretations in arriving at conclusions. Students develop college-level social science skills through essay examinations, note taking from both printed materials and lectures, and the preparation of research papers. The course provides for extensive use of historical materials, both primary and secondary. If a student passes the CEEB Advanced Placement Exam, this course may be accepted by colleges for course credit.

Note: Beginning with the 2007-08 school year, local schools may not label courses Advanced Placement (AP) on student transcripts without authorization from the College Board. Each AP teacher must submit an AP course Audit Form and syllabus for review by the College Board. Qualifying courses will receive authorization from the College Board to use the AP designation. A ledger of schools with their authorized courses will be made available to colleges and universities by November of each year.

Samples of acceptable AP American History AB syllabi, course requirements, samples of evidence, evaluation guidelines, and an example textbook list can be downloaded from the College Board Web site.

For assistance in meeting the requirements of the AP Course Audit for LAUSD, consult Memorandum MEM-3408.0 or the Office of Gifted/Talented Programs.
Advanced Placement World History AB
Annual Course – Grades 9-12
Prerequisite: None

370133 AP WLD HIS A
370134 AP WLD HIS B

Course Description
The major purpose of this course is to develop greater understanding of the evolution of global processes and contacts, in interaction with different types of human societies. This understanding is advanced through a combination of selective factual knowledge and appropriate analytical skills. The course highlights the nature of changes in international frameworks and their causes and consequences, as well as comparisons among major societies. It emphasizes relevant factual knowledge used in conjunction with leading interpretive issues and types of historical evidence. The course builds on understanding of cultural, institutional, and technological precedents that, along with geography, set the human stage. Periodization, explicitly discussed, forms an organizing principle for dealing with change and continuity throughout the course. Specific themes provide further organization to the course, along with consistent attention to contacts among societies that form the core of world history as field of study. If a student passes the CEEB Advanced Placement Exam, this course may be accepted by colleges for course credit.

Note: Beginning with the 2007-08 school year, local schools may not label courses Advanced Placement (AP) on student transcripts without authorization from the College Board.
