

TEACHER RACIAL CONSCIOUSNESS & COMMUNITY RESPONSIVE PRACTICES

Incredible opportunity to participate in a workshop to create an
Auto-Ethnography

*Dr. Jeff Duncan-Andrade
Professor San Francisco State University
Founder of Roses in Concrete Community School
Best Selling Author*

In this 3-part workshop series, teachers will:

- * Explore their own cultural identities in relationship to power and oppression through a teacher development curriculum.
- * Develop a narrative presentation about their own cultural identity, its relationship to their role as a teacher, and the ways it impacts their approach to youth wellness with their students.
- * Leave with the makings of an auto-ethnography curriculum that they can use in their own classrooms to develop similar storytelling opportunities with their students.

Workshop dates:

September 12, October 17, November 14 or December 5

All sessions via Zoom

Teachers will be paid
hourly rate and
$1,200 stipend

Sponsored by:
School Improvement Grant Office (SIG)
Approved By John Steh, Katherine Stehr, Director of Innovation