OUR COMMUNITIES, OUR SCHOLARS: LAUSD SHARING PROMISING PRACTICES TOGETHER

LAUSD is home to a vibrant and rich family of schools striving toward excellence for our children and communities. "Our Communities, Our Scholars: LAUSD Sharing Promising Practices Together" is a forum for practitioners from various schools models to learn from one another through the sharing of promising practices. Michelle King, Superintendent of Schools, is convening practitioners semi-annually to build a unified collaborative system focus on student family and community needs.

The steering committee for "Our Communities, Our Scholars: LAUSD Sharing Promising Practices Together" is a collaborative between several District offices and school leaders. It is under the direction of the Office of the Superintendent.

Summer 2016 Forum:

This inaugural event will convene approximately 300 participants on Saturday, July 23, 2016 starting at 8:00 am until 3:30 pm at the Sotomayor Learning Complex. This location was intentionally selected because it serves as an example of the diverse school models working together as one community. During the day, participants will learn about the Superintendent's vision for school choice and attend presentations where colleagues from the field will share how they are implementing practices that support student achievement. Participants will also have the opportunity to share ideas and to re-imagine how to continuously share promising practices across our District throughout the year.

Call for presenters criteria:

- 100% Graduation
- Proficiency for All
- 100% Attendance
- Parent & Community Engagement
- School Safety
- Collaboration & Partnership Between School Models

Winter/Spring 2017 Forum

This forum will seek to build upon lessons gleaned from the Summer Forum to give practitioners greater opportunities to share promising practices across our District. To this end, the steering committee will expand to include school leaders and civic partners to create innovative collaborative experiences throughout the school year.
